- No data protection requirements to comply with, as image data is not transmitted or stored

Access control with SITECO Connect Vision.

Challenging situations require pragmatic solutions. That's why we've leveraged our know-how in the field of presence sensor technology to create real added value also in non-lighting applications. The result: a maximum user-friendly access control system for your store – quickly installed, uncomplicated in operation and with high detection quality to increase the safety of your customers & employees.

- Simple installation, attached inconspicuously on the ceiling: Mount the sensor, ensure power supply, connect the server module to the internet, set it up online – done

- The optics-based sensor technology precisely captures the entrance and exit area, while the intelligent object detection software reliably recognizes movements of persons

- The system processes the data where it is collected and does not transmit image data – this spares the compliance with data protection requirements

- Thanks to SITECO's own web application, no server capacity or IT installation is required from your side

The maximum number of people allowed in the store can be set flexibly in the software, which accordingly controls the traffic light display in the entrance area (dashboard display can be individually adapted)

The dashboard can be displayed on the device of your choice, for example on a tablet or smart TV directly at the entrance

Several branches & rooms can be monitored via the Web application – even remotely

Free use of the web application included in the first two years

Thanks to data logging of the current number of people in-store, the compliance with the permitted number of persons can be easily verified at any time
